«Boston" The writer explains the misunderstanding through which he neglected to acknowledge the "polite attention of Mrs. Fifield" in sending a pamphlet sermon of the writer's ancestor, the Rev. East Apthorp. The writer wished to investigate "how the name of Weston got into the Apthorp family." A sister of the writer's father was named Frances Weston Vaughan. Inquires for the date of the addressee's grandfather's loss at sea. To Mrs. Caroline Wells (Healey) Dall

«Boston» The writer answers the addressee's letter to the Boston Daily Advertiser. Favors simplicity and avoidance of over-indulgence. "But in so far as the «Economical» League aims to ... prefer the manufacturer of one country over another, it is narrow, unchristian and unwise." «Boston» W. Phillips objected to the reporting of the Baltimore and Cleveland conventions by the National Anti-Slavery Standard. Thought that J. C. Fremont was unjustly treated, and wrote to William I. Bowditch, Treasurer of the American Anti-Slavery Society, ordering him to cease contributing to the support of the Standard. The Executive Committee will consider the matter. W.L.G. expects that the Society will be "rent asunder."

«Boston» Was well satisfied with his trip to Baltimore and Washington. Hoped, in vain, that W. Phillips would change his mind about Pres, Lincoln after the Republican convention. A meeting of the Executive Committee will be held to discuss the matter.

«Boston» Discusses the plan to merge the Liberator and the National Anti-Slavery Standard. "The actual number of paying subscribers to both papers is under four thousand." Thinks that if G. B. McClellan had been elected, the Libera- and the Standard would have had to merge and continue in operation, but now W.L.G. expects Congress to adopt the Anti-Slavery amendments to the Constitution, thereby removing the need for continued activity by the American Anti-Slavery Society. Does not consider that the Liberator's effectiveness ever depended solely on his writings. Regrets that the merger proposal was submitted [redacted] the Pennsylvania Anti-Slavery Society.

«Boston» Did not expect W. I. B. to be as stubborn as W. Phillips in resisting the decree of the Court in the F.Jackson will case. Holds that W. I. B. had no better knowledge of F. Jackson's mind than E. Quincy, S. May Jr. and himself. Resents the determination of W. I. B. and W. Phillips to prevent the money from going to the New England Freedmen's Aid Commission and objects to criticism of the Mass. Supreme Court. Mr. Sewall was surprised that Phillips would argue that the legacy should go to the National Anti-Slavery Standard instead of the American Anti-Slavery Society. W.L.G. is of the opinion that Phillips and W. I. B. intended to delay the case by claiming that [redacted]tatement of need was presented by the Commission. «Boston» Tells about replying to W. Phillips's accusations against him in the F. Jackson will case. In answer to A. H. Defends his reply to Phillips's criticism, and his actions in connection with the Jackson bequest. W. P. refuses to pay the money over to the New England Freedmen's Aid Commission.

To the Editor of the Journal

«Boston» Title: Mr. Sumner and the Legislature. Referring to a letter of Wendell Phillips, W.L.G. says that he agrees with W. P.'s praise of Sumner's public services, but challenges W. P.'s claim that Sumner is "above censure." Disputes W. P.'s claim that S. often lacked the support of his constituents. W. P. is wrong in saying that S. was among the first of the Abolitionists and compares the records of Sen. Henry Wilson and S. Quotes remarks made by W. P. about S. in years past. W.L.G. argues in favor of allowing the names of battles to remain on the flag. Refutes W. P. arguments.

«Boston» "Accept my thanks for your volume entitled 'Recollections and Experiences of an Abolitionist.'" Hopes that A. M. R. will send a copy of his book to the Librarian of Cornell University. Refers to A. M. R.'s efforts in behalf of fugitive slaves. Objects to passages in A. M. R.'s book in which he quotes John Brown's derogatory remarks about the Northern Abolitionists.
